Learning is Out There

The heart of any online course is the desire of the student to pursue the learning. We can set them up for success by clearly identifying course objectives, breaking content into process steps and allowing students the space - and time - to reflect on their knowledge.

Curriculum

Design

e-venture offers online curriculum design work and consultation to ensure the needs of students and teachers are met. Showing how helping students master objectives can be personalized to the learner without sacrificing rigor.

Writing

Need help translating content from your physical space to the virtual classroom? e-venture can help with staff augmentation and your course writing needs.
